PASTOR'S CORNER

Dear Parishioners,

At the beginning of the year, Visitation began the process of a feasibility study to determine the parish's level of interest in supporting a capital campaign for renovations and improvements to Visitation School. As you will recall, our consultant produced a case statement outlining what a two-phase project would entail based on Hollis + Miller's master planning recommendations.

The feasibility study is complete and was recently presented to leaders of our various ministries and school. We are hopeful that you, too, will take an opportunity to read the results along with the wealth of data that will help to inform our decision-making in the months ahead. But if I may, I would like to share just a few highlights of the study that are both encouraging and affirming of this parish's appreciation for our school:

- One of the top takeaways from the study is the overwhelming appreciation expressed for this parish community. 90% of the participants stated that their spiritual needs are being met at Visitation.
- Another strength: more than 98% of the participants expressed that our school ministry is highly valued – that it brings vitality to our church, and serves as an anchor in the neighborhood and community.
- Of the 230 people participating in survey, 85% indicated that they would indeed consider supporting a campaign to improve our school campus.

Additionally, the feasibility study process provided an opportunity for you to express your concerns and ideas, as well as your hopes and dreams for the future. Your candor and thoughtfulness are appreciated AND are shaping the action steps we are taking to prepare for a successful campaign. These action steps include:

- Ensuring everyone at the parish has access to the feasibility study results. You will find a link to the study below as well as in the all-parish email that was sent this past Friday.
- Completing the Strategic Planning process that the school is currently undertaking and ensuring its implementation.
- Developing a business plan to determine the viability of an Early Childhood Center that is proposed in Phase II of the master plan.
- Investing time and effort to continue strengthening Mass attendance, community-building, stewardship and tithing – all things that will make for a vibrant parish AND a successful campaign.

I am grateful to everyone who took the time to participate in the study. Your feedback says a lot about what is on your hearts and minds, and gives our parish leadership an opportunity to build upon our strengths and to implement change in the areas that need improvement.

So, please, make time this week to check out the study on our website (utilize the QR code at right or visit <https://tinyurl.com/visfeasibility>) and please do not hesitate to reach out to me or to Megan Burdolski with any additional feedback. We will continue to keep you updated as we follow through on the study's recommendations and next steps.

Peace,

Fr. Greg

ANNUAL SCHOOL CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

It certainly wasn't a "Silent Night" but a festive evening indeed – Visitation Students (K-4th Grade) showed their holiday spirit for the school's annual Christmas Program, held on December 13. Kazoos, talented solos, Santa hats, and spirited performances filled our gym with joy, pride, laughter and gratitude.

A special THANK YOU to Mrs. Edwin for all her hard work, patience and vision, to make this year's performance a highlight of the holiday season for our school families.

EXCERPT FROM “THE ABOLITIONIST HISTORY OF ‘O HOLY NIGHT’”
DELANEY COYNE, AMERICA: A JESUIT REVIEW

The Incarnation is the great miracle of salvation history, and perhaps no song better expresses that miracle—and its continued implications—as well as “O Holy Night.” With its soaring high notes and poetic depiction of God’s light breaking through to a world cloaked in sin, the song helps us to revel in that glory. The man who translated “O Holy Night” into English, John Sullivan Dwight, believed that reflection on this miracle had the potential to confront oppression and injustice in his day. The song was introduced to the United States by a Unitarian minister, John Sullivan Dwight, remembered as the first American music critic. He translated the poem into English and released it in 1855.

Benjamin Ivry called the original French “didactic,” “as if lecturing a crowd.” In Dwight’s rather liberal translation, the text takes on new life. The French, which would directly translate to “People kneel down, wait for your deliverance,” becomes “Fall on your knees; O hear the angel voices!”

The most interesting part of Dwight’s translation appears in the third stanza. A literal translation of the original French goes:

*The Redeemer has overcome every obstacle.
The Earth is free, and Heaven is open.
He sees a brother where there was only a slave.
Love unites those whom iron had chained.*

Dwight translated the verse to:

*Truly He taught us to love one another;
His law is love and His Gospel is Peace.
Chains shall He break, for the slave is our brother
And in His name, all oppression shall cease.*

To Dwight’s American contemporaries, this would have been a radical political statement. By 1855, it had become increasingly clear that the long series of compromises that preserved slavery in the South was untenable.

Dwight himself was an ardent abolitionist. He wrote publicly about his horror that “three or four millions of our human brethren [are] in slavery” and believed that the United States was committing “moral suicide,” according to his biographer, Bill F. Fawcett. Dwight’s translation confronted listeners with the truth that Christ came to free humanity from sin, and therefore aligned the Christian witness with the abolitionist cause that sought to eliminate the evil of chattel slavery. It is thus unsurprising that “O Holy Night” gained fast favor among Northerners during the Civil War.

In “O Holy Night,” we are reminded of the promise of the Incarnation and its continuing resonance today. The Incarnation marks God’s entrance into humanity, done to fulfill the promise to “bring good news to the poor.... Proclaim release to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to let the oppressed go free, and to proclaim the year of the Lord’s favor” (Lk 4:18-19). As Christians, we must participate in this mission in the present, striving constantly to bring forth the kingdom of God. For Dwight, that called him to an abolitionist witness.

“O Holy Night” can still remind us of Christians’ duty to participate in Christ’s liberating mission. Our guest on “Hark!,” Gregory Boyle, S.J., says that he adopted the lines, “Long lay the world, in sin and error pining/ until he appeared and the soul felt its worth” as a kind of mantra: “It’s a song about Christmas and it’s a song about Jesus, but how is it not the job description of anyone who is the proud owner of a pulse?”

From Dwight’s abolitionist cause to Father Boyle’s ministry with gang members, we are all called to see the worth in each soul, and to fight against a world that denigrates it. “O Holy Night” is a reminder that in Christ, we all belong to one another, slave and free.

PARISH SAFETY

SAVE A LIFE

Did you know that over 4 years ago we applied for and received a grant to install an AED device in our Usher Greeter Room? At that time, all staff were trained on the device and in CPR. You do not need to be trained; however, to save a life. If there happens to be an urgent need, anyone can administer aid using the AED which is very self intuitive. We are all grateful that we haven't needed it and hope that trend continues. However, if someone goes into sudden cardiac arrest the best line of defense is to:

1. Recognize that someone needs help
 2. Immediately call 911
 3. Begin CPR/chest compressions
- Follow the directions on the AED Device

Remember, seconds count when someone goes into sudden cardiac arrest!

FAITH FORMATION

PARISH BOOK

The Faith Formation Team is happy to announce our first parish book for 2024, “Three Days: the Search for the Boy Messiah” by Chris Stepien.

Publisher’s description: In the Bible we are told Jesus was lost in the temple for three days when he traveled to Jerusalem for Passover with Mary and Joseph. Why did he stay behind? What did he do? Who did he meet? Where did he sleep? Was he ever in danger? This Biblical novel is a compelling tale about 12-year-old Jesus, based on the second chapter of Luke’s Gospel. This book will grip your imagination—as you explore the Temple and experience the drama of ancient Hebrew traditions with the boy Messiah.

Pick up your household’s free copy in the narthex while they last.
